

Crater on Europa

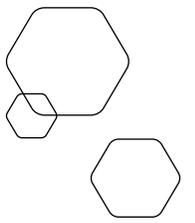

Image of Europa from NASA's Galileo mission.

Researchers have found evidence of a huge ancient impact on the surface of Europa, one of Jupiter's icy moons. Some scientists think that the comet or asteroid that made the impact could have introduced clay-like minerals and organic materials to the surface of this icy moon, possibly providing the building blocks for life!