

What happens when it rains?

I see water droplets.

I splash in puddles.

I hear water falling.

I get wet.

What's a memory you have about the rain?

What do you remember about one time it rained?

FOR CAREGIVERS: Tracking storms and the flow of water on Earth is an important job for NASA that helps keep people safe. There are many spacecraft orbiting Earth that scientists use to collect data about rain, snow, and storms. Look out the window with your young child—what can you observe about the weather? Is it a sunny day, or does it look like rain? Talk about what you should wear to go outside for a walk.
